CREATE A NEW LIFE OUTSIDE THE CLASSROOM...

The Coach Breakthrough has been created to help teachers learn how to coach young people, revolutionise emotional support and create a new life for themselves.

Our Coach Breakthrough training programme is hands on, it's as much about doing as it is about learning. That's why we've got a high level of accountability built into each programme.

We'll be holding your hand every step of the way to ensure that you are equipped with the strategies to change the lives of young people whilst gaining both freedom and control over your life.

THE REVOLUTION IN EMOTIONAL SUPPORT...

Being in education can be frustrating at times. The fixation with testing, data and results can lead to many problems for not only students, but staff as well.

Having taught in classrooms across the country for half a decade, I witnessed many students that struggled. The problems including things such as anxiety, stress, under achievement, low motivation and a lack of confidence to name just a few. I felt the emotional support for young people was outdated and it was not having a significant impact.

Personally, I was frustrated about not feeling valued within the education system and constantly felt restricted about the life I wanted to live. I loved working with students but I had reached my point of growth, I wanted control for my life.

Student Breakthrough uses revolutionary coaching methods to provide young people with the tools, vision and techniques to succeed in all aspects of life.

You might be wondering how you can have a more significant impact and learn new skills to grow on a personal and professional level, whilst helping young people to develop skills for life.

WHAT COULD BE POSSIBLE...

Joining one of our programmes is a significant investment in both your personal and professional development.

The fee really isn't the most important figure here, the most important figure is the young people that you can help, the new life you can create and the new income you can generate.

Many of our graduates from our courses have set up their own coaching business, have new jobs working in education and are generating new income on the side of their current career.

Ultimately, they have more freedom, time and control over their lives.

SO, LET ME ASK YOU A QUESTION, IF NOT NOW, THEN WHEN?

I look forward to working with you!
